POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

Heard at the Coffee table: "A taxpayer is a person who doesn't have to pass a civil service examination to work each year for the Government."

HOW TO RELIEVE PROPERTY TAXES

Dr. Everett E. Peterson, the extension economist at the University of Nebraska, tells how to relieve property of some of its taxation, according to the Nebraska City News-Press.

Noting that local governments determine all property taxes, because the state relies on other sources, the economist had this advice:

1. Hold the line or reduce local government expenditures, recognizing the effect on quantity and quality of public services.
2. Use other sources of revenue, such as more state aid, especially to schools, or local sales and income taxes.
3. Reorganize local governments if cost - saving efficiencies can be realized.
4. Appeal property tax values and try to get valuation procedures changed.

And then Dr. Peterson had this suggestion:

"You can also influence amount and the purpose of local government expenditures by attending meetings of school boards, county boards city commissions, and other government bodies with public spending authority."

If people continually ask for more and better public services, their property taxes are going to continue to rise. If they will be satisfied with fewer and less expensive services, local taxes can be cut. Actually, public spending bodies usually reflect the wishes of their constituents, but the suggestions and complaints must be timely - especially when candidates offer themselves for election. Bellyaching when taxes are paid will do no good.

BIRDS AND MAN

DDT is just one of several chlorinated hydrocarbons used as a pesticide. Bugs build up an immunity to it in time but higher forms of wildlife don't. As little as .02 parts per million (ppm) in a lake can be concentrated to 5 ppm in water plants. Grebes that eat fish that feed on the plants die with more than 2,000 ppm of DDT in their fatty tissues.

DDT represents a battle won for wildlife conservationists. The Nixon administration imposed a ban on most domestic uses of the chemical last year. But many other persistent pesticides are still being used, according to Frank Graham Jr. in his recent book, Silent Spring. Overhunting, pollution and man's usurpation of more and more territory are killing off many forms of wildlife faster than they can reproduce. Twenty-three species of birds have become extinct in the last 150 years. There are 35 species of birds on the Interior Department's list of "endangered" and "rare" forms of wildlife.

Massive bird fatalities will be of particular concern when the National Association of Audubon Societies holds its four-day, 65th annual convention beginning on Tuesday, May 14, in Seattle, Wash. Appropriately named George Bird Grinnell organized the first of these societies in the late 1800s to honor American ornithologist John James Audubon-- considered a ne'er-do-well in his time because he preferred watching and drawing birds to more lucrative forms of employment. Audubon would doubtless be shocked at the senseless death of birdlife in the 20th century. But concern about the problem now goes beyond simple compassion for wildlife and ornithology.

Science now sees the world as an "unpartitionable ecosystem" in which every living thing, including man, is dependent upon every other living thing. Like the miners' canary-- which died at the first whiff of coal gas-- widespread bird kills are harbingers of something very wrong in the ecosystem. Audubon societies, antipollution groups and conservationists are now joining forces to warn man to take action quickly.

The borrow - and - spend era was great fun for a time, but now that the bills have started coming in - paid for largely by new borrowing at higher interest- things aren't nearly as gay as they once were."

Missouri's Interstate Highway System totals 1,147 miles. Of this total, 738 miles of the system are up to standards and in operation; 130 miles are under contract for construction; 77 miles are in use but temporarily not up to full standards; and the location has been approved for the remaining 202 miles.

THAT'S CONGRESS LOOKING AT THE COURT

Whether one agrees or disagrees with decisions by the present Supreme Court, the fact remains that the Congress is breathing down the Court's neck.

This time last year, four bills had been put in the Congressional hopper to curb the Court; this year, 18 have been sent to congressional committees. The Congressmen seem worried by the Court's runaway nature on matters relating from filmed and printed obscenity to possible Supreme Court Senility.

A bill sponsored by U.S. Sen. Everett Dirksen seems to have star billing because of its unique nature (it concerns the Court's decisions on obscenity), and several House Joint Resolutions seek to retire Justices at the age of 70 or limit their term in office.

Senator Dirksen's bill, S 1077, is the 1969 reincarnation of his 1968 bill, S 4058, which died in committee as a sacrifice to the nonconfirmation of Justice Fortas to be Chief Justice.

It is a new legislative tack to curb the Court. It seeks to preserve local jury verdicts which determine whether an act, film or publication is obscene. No court of the United States or District of Columbia would have jurisdiction to review, reverse or set aside such a verdict.

Senator Dirksen told fellow senators he believes the bill is constitutional.

"We have invited some of the best brains in the preparation of it; and I am willing to take my chances that we can deposit this in the hands of the jury. That is where it would go, and that is where it would stop."

The feeling behind the bill is that local people would be making the decision "on what goes" in their area. As Senator Dirksen put it: "They are entitled to regulate, establish, and uphold the moral atmosphere of their communities."

Last year, the bill had the backing of Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, but the measure doesn't carry his co-sponsorship in 1969. Senator Dirksen's office says this was due to oversight.

A similar bill to remove higher court jurisdiction in obscenity cases has been introduced in the House of Representatives by U.S. Rep. William E. Minshall of Ohio.

The bill was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary, which looks like it will be terribly busy acting on many bills curbing the Court, or equally busy ignoring them.

The bills seek to limit Court jurisdiction, to override decisions by a two-thirds vote of the Congress, to reconfirm Justices at set periods or retire them at 70. Others want no justice to be appointed without prior bench experience, or to set restrictions on continuance in, or on terms of, service on the Supreme Court and other federal benches.

A recurrent and enduring and no less important bill, judging by its wide Senate support, is Senate Joint Resolution 6 - the prayer amendment. Seeking the right of nondenominational prayer in "any public building supported... through... public funds..." and backed by 34 Senators, the amendment would require ratification by three-fourths of the States.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON -- President
Nixon's press conference prediction that there would be a Soviet-American agreement to limit strategic weapons was apparently a bit premature.

Both sides have acknowledged that an escalation of the arms race not only would make this planet a more dangerous place to live but would pile more millions upon the already oppressive financial burden of both nations. Yet the escalation is going on, inexorably, as if it were an irresistible force of nature.

At a recent diplomatic soiree in Moscow, a Soviet official passed pleasantries with an American diplomat. Suddenly, the Russian began speaking intently, nervously pressing his fingertips together. He wanted the American to know, he said, that enlightened Soviet leaders
wanted a strategic arms agreement but that they were hampered by the Defense Ministry.

Variations of this scene have been repeated at least two dozen times during the past few weeks.
Soviet diplomats have taken aside Americans at cocktail parties and have stopped them in corridors to whisper that the Soviet military are obstructing
the SALT talks in Vienna.

Another intelligence report declares ominously that "the Soviets have recently placed mooring buoys" in the Philippine Sea, which has been dominated by the U.S. Fleet
since Admiral Dewey destroyed
the Spanish fleet in 1898.

Meanwhile, the negotiators in Vienna are trying desperately to stop the military spending spiral
by trading off a U.S. advantage for a Soviet advantage. What the military men are doing, however, seems to counter what the negotiators are saying. Thus, the chances that President Nixon's prediction will come true are now rated less than 50-50.

CUBAN AIRLIFT
CHALLENGED
Rep. Bill Clay, D-Mo., will write President Nixon next week urging him to terminate the cuban airlift, which brings about

1,000 refugees into this country each week.

Clay's opposition to the refugee airlift is based upon a private staff memo which charges that it "constitutes an outright subsidization of the Cuban government welfare program."

"This policy of accepting and bearing the expense of those who are either unwanted, unneeded, or uncomfortable within the confines of their country has no basis," declares the memo. "We are trying to solve the social problems of a enemy nation."

The airlift was begun by President Johnson in 1965 to offer safe, quick passage for a stream of refugees who had been trying to get out of Cuba since Fidel Castro seized control in 1959.

About 190,000 Cubans have been brought to this country by the airlift. When they arrive, a number of volunteer agencies help them to obtain transportation to the place of their choice and housing after they get there.

Most of the expense is borne by the taxpayers who spent $87 million last year on the entire refugee program. The budget request for the next fiscal year is $112 million.

Clay's staff study charges that "the refugees coming to America now are not fleeing the country in opposition to Castro on the basis of ideology. We are admitting the lame, the aged, the blind, the unemployables, as well as the able-bodied unemployed of Cuba."

The study says that 50,000
Cubans are now receiving U.S. welfare and their presence in many areas creates "fierce and often bitter competition for jobs."

The officials who are running the Cuban refugee program, however, say that the program is intended only to reunite families divided by the Castro revolution.
While immediate family members have priority, the officials admitted that aunts, uncles, cousins and other relatives are considered eligible to be brought here by airlift.

All refugees now coming in signed up to leave Cuba before May 1, 1966. About 73,000 persons are believed to remain on the list. They are subject to reprisal and would be left at Castro's mercy if they aren't permitted to come to this country, say the officials.

maneuvers under the code name,
"Okean."

In the Pacific, for example,
U.S. naval forces have teletyped and radioed in code a staccato of submarine sightings. The list of Russian subs prowling the sea around Vietnam, has now reached 120.
Of these, 35 are known to be nuclear powered and 25 are armed with 400-mile missiles.

INTELLIGENCE REPORT
An intelligence summary, slipped to this column, declares that the Soviet subs operate out of the Siberian ports of Vladivostok and Petropavlovsk.

"This force," states the summary, "has significant capabilities including torpedo attack, cruise missile and ballistic missiles with the ability to operate anywhere in the Pacific."

The intelligence report also describes a Soviet surface fleet of "five cruisers, including guided missile cruisers; 25 destroyers, about half of which are guided-missile equipped; and 25 ocean escorts. Its guided-missile patrol boat force, of about 60 units, is the largest of any of the four (Soviet) fleets, and its amphibians and naval auxiliary forces are second in size only to those in the Baltic
and Northern fleets, respectively."

Another intelligence report
declares ominously that "the Soviets have recently placed
mooring buoys" in the Philippine Sea, which has been dominated by the U.S. Fleet
since Admiral Dewey destroyed
the Spanish fleet in 1898.

Meanwhile, the negotiators in

H.L. Hunt Says

MOSCOW'S ROLE
IN BIAFRA

The Soviet Union claims to be the friend of "emerging nations." Yet in the recent African war between Nigeria and Biafra, Moscow played a large part in crushing Biafra's hopes for independence and helped to cause the death of no less than two million Biafrans.

The Nigerian government could not have denied independence to Biafra without outside help. Nigeria's Ambassador to the Kremlin,
G.T. Kurubo, stated on January 20 that Moscow's aid, which included jet bombers, jet fighters and artillery, "more than any other single thing, more than all other things together," brought about the destruction of Biafra.

The Soviet Union hailed the defeat of Biafra and condemned attempts to provide humanitarian relief for starving and sick Biafrans as "trying to prevent a genuine and stable consolidation of Nigeria."

The Soviet Union supported the Nigerian government because this government was friendly toward Communism. A free Biafra, on the other hand, would have been anti-Communist.

Through its aid to Nigeria,
Moscow has gained an important new foothold on the continent of Africa. The Communist newspaper "Daily World" said on January 20 that stories of mass starvation in Biafra were a "hoax." Yet there can be no doubt that two million Biafrans are dead because of actions by Nigeria, supported by Moscow.

This shows once again that Communists totally disregard human life and are concerned only with achieving their own political goals, whatever that cost. So long as Communist influence can be spread, it doesn't matter to Moscow how many human beings are killed.

Biafra's defeat should remind everyone of the true nature of Communism. HLH

WAR AND PEACE: hard-hat low rent housing or the workers chiefs plan to spread construction union demonstrations to 1,200 cities.
Van Arsdale as Neanderthal.

New York: - There is an elemental verity in Peter J.
Brennan's observation. It is other day he said in that soft voice which has quieted many a tumultuous union rhuabarb: "If Executive Council session the you get hit by a crowbar or a long wrench, you stay hit."

Mr. Brennan is a man of considerable influence since he is president of the 386,000 member New York City and New York State Building and Construction Trades Council (AFL-CIO).

For days he has been poring over photographs of union hard hats mixing it up with student demonstrators. He has consulted with police, debate in the Council session on whether to back White House policies. The opposition sprang from the municipal employees militant leaders, Jerry Wurf, whose words flared like sparks from an old grinding wheel. He was joined by Herman Kenin, the musicians' leader who says antiwar pressure from his own members is intense. They were joined by William Pollock, head of the textile workers.
Broadway's Fred O'Neal, black leader of Actors' Equity, abstained.

The vote was overwhelming.
So this is labor's position. Mr.
Brennan's letter best expressed their views in the basic material of factoids of trade union communications which begin, "Dear Sirs and Brothers:
read or seen on local TV." It said, "Building and Construction Workers of New York have created a mass reaction throughout the country in supporting our armed forces in Indochina by their demonstrations here in New York City in the last few days.

Mr. Brennan then says that until now the demonstrations have been spontaneous by the men working on the jobs in the City Hall-Wall St. Area.

"We are making it known to everyone that we are opposed to violence regardless of where it comes from," he adds, "and we have requested that our members control their tempers in further demonstrations."

Then he tells the leaders of 1,200 city building union councils, which have some 10,000 locals, that he planned a mass rally "to show our support to our country and our boys in Asia ... in a proper and nonviolent manner."

"We are requesting, if you agree with us," he writes, "that you have similar demonstrations in your cities and at least request the union and business establishments, etc., to display their American flag and in every way possible let the anti-construction workers stand. Let us get our boys home as soon as possible and safe and sound under completely honorable conditions."

This is the beginning. The confrontation had to come. It has tremendous public support.
Mr. Brennan's office - and that of the National Building Trades Council in Washington - are receiving thousands of letters, some money and hundreds of calls.

Ann Landers
Do not Have Rear Tatooed To Prove Undying Love, Girls...Others See It!

Dear Ann Landers: I was interested in the letter from the girl whose boyfriend asked her to have a butterfly tattooed on her hip. It seems the kook wanted a highly personal symbol of her undying love and devotion - something no one but he could see.

Please tell the girl not to be a fool. Four years ago I had my backside tattooed to prove to my fiancé that I'd do anything for him. We are married now but not a day goes by that I don't regret my lunacy.

I, too, thought nobody but my true love would see it, but I was wrong. A lot of people have seen it. When I was hospitalized for by babies I was the talk of the maternity ward. Last year I joined an exercise class and had to drop out when the word got around. Everybody wanted to see the "tattooed lady." I felt like a circus freak.

I can't describe the misery this ridiculous thing has caused me. Please tell that gal to prove her undying love and devotion some other way - or better yet let him prove his by dropping the idea. - Sisters Under the Skin

Dear S.U.S.: One might call this exchange "The Tail of Two Sitties." Thanks for your letter. I hope your letter shook the Dickens out of her.

Dear Ann Landers: What has happened to decency, kindness, and love of one's fellow man? Every day I hear about another incident that causes me to mourn for the way our world is going. This morning my dear, sweet neighbor received the cruellest blow imaginable.

Here youngest son underwent surgery a few days ago. He was a lovable, bright-eyed boy of 13. The operation was a success, according to the doctor, but complications set in and he took a turn for the worse. His parents were with him until 9:00 p.m. last night. He seemed to be resting comfortably. The doctor assured them he was out of danger. This morning at 8 a.m. his mother phoned the hospital to ask the floor nurse if the patient had had a good night. She was told there was no point in trying to locate the floor nurse because "the boy died early this morning." The mother sank to her knees and her husband took the receiver from her hand.

How can people be so brutal? What can be done to prevent such acts of cruelty? Please print the name of the hospital. I think the world ought to know about

Cutting Roses
Cutting roses for indoor use is an art, but it helps if you remember that cutting a flower for a bouquet or removing spent blooms really amounts to pruning. When pruning is correctly done, the result is healthier and larger plants and increased flower production.

When cutting off a flower, never leave a stub and never twist off a faded bloom because, in either case, the stem dies back to the first node. The leaving of a jagged wound is exposing the injured plant tissue to fungus which are ever present and waiting to grow in the wound. Roses may be cut with fairly long stems rose bush, however, because the from established plants, as this loss of a really large quantity of keeps the bushes low and well foliage puts a strain on the plant. branched and eliminates the ten- It takes from five to seven leaves deny for tall, leggy plants that not leaflets to manufacture results when flowers are cut with enough food for each bloom, so short stems from the top of the leave the plant enough foliage to plant. College News
Larry Luber, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Luber of 103 Salcedo Road, will graduate from Memphis State University May 30.

Spraying Your Roses
An all-purpose rose spray for insects and diseases should be used once every ten days from the time the leaf length is about two inches long. We would recommend spraying rather than dusting because the coverage is usually better. Dust may be used, though it should be applied early in the morning, or in the evening when dew is on the plants. Otherwise it will not stick.

Mental Health A Concern At Any Age...

Mental illness occurs at all ages. Children comprise 34 percent of the total caseload of out-patients. In contrast, 3 to 8 percent of caseloads of in-patients consist of persons under 18 years of age.

You may become a member of the Tri-County Mental Health Association Box 434, Sikeston, Missouri 63801. Individual yearly dues are collected.

May is designated nationally as Mental Health Month. Support your local mental health association.

The Tri-County Mental Health Association is people... We are:

- every clergyman who must struggle with the emotional problems of his congregation
- every policeman who is called to handle difficult, emotionally disturbed people
- every school teacher who must deal with emotionally disturbed children in her class, and every child who is too upset to learn
- every mentally ill child, denied appropriate professional care or hidden at home by desperate parents
- every parent who is concerned about the future emotional well-being of his children
- every emotionally upset mentally ill person who does not know where to turn for understanding and treatment
- every public official who knows the community's mental health needs, but lacks the funds to provide adequate services.

We are every citizen of Mississippi, Scott, and Stoddard counties who care and who see the importance of a modern mental health program.

Personal Notes
Open house for Mr. and Mrs. Martin Seagraves of Sikeston Sunday from 2 until 5 p.m. in their home... in honor of their 50th wedding anniversary.

One of the least recognized in Missouri is that we have more than 100,000 mentally ill children. Our state's young citizens like adults can and do become seriously emotionally disturbed. Yet mental health programs in Missouri, as in almost every other state in the nation, have until recently tended to neglect them. Despite the large number of children needing help, the shortage of qualified staff and the inadequacy of physical facilities, a good beginning has been made.

State Baseball Finals This Weekend

SPRINGFIELD — Four teams who have survived the state Tournament series, which began in late April, will battle for the State Baseball championship here this weekend. A new champion is assured since defending champ Kansas City Oak Park was beaten in the sectionals. Oak Park had won the title in 1968 and 1969. A year ago they defeated St. Louis Lafayette 5-1.

Two games are on tap for Friday with St. Louis Lafayette (15-5) meeting Joplin Memorial (17-5) at 1:30 p.m. at Meador Park in Springfield and Columbia Hickman (11-4) taking on St. Louis McCluer (21-4) at 4 p.m.

Columbia advanced into the semifinals with a 4-1 win over Hannibal Monday on the two-hit pitching of ace righthander

Ray Ash. The 185-pound senior has allowed only 11 hits in 53 innings of work this season and has a 8-0 mark.

Lafayette blanked Sikeston 5-0 behind Ed Kreinkamp, while Rich Haynie pitched McCluer past St. Louis University 8-1 and Joplin Memorial overpowered Rolla 10-3.

Pitching seems to be the name of the game for all the clubs, with each having a top flight mound performer. Besides Ash, other hurlers in the tournament to watch are Haynie, who has an 8-1 mark for the Comets, including three wins in the last four tournament games. Kreinkamp is 9-0 for the season, while Joplin Memorial's Dave Beezley and lefty Barry Koenke have a combined mark of 14-1.

Joplin Memorial, coached by Warren Turner, is a young club that starts at least three sophomores. They won the Ozark Conference championship, losing only to Springfield Glendale in nine league games. They whipped Glendale 2-1 in the sectionals.

Columbia, with Ash tossing a one-hitter, eliminated Oak Park 2-1 in the sectional game played at Sedalia. The Kewpies top hitter is shortstop Tim Drennan with a .450 mark. Fermin Archuleta is batting an even .300 for the Kewpies.

Lafayette has four men hitting above the .350 mark, headed by Ed Metzger with a .433 effort and Randy Viehaus, a 6-4 outfielder-first baseman. Viehaus has 25 RBI's, 26 hits and four home runs. Metzger has 26 hits, 24 RBI's and two round-trippers. He also has stolen seven bases. Joe Wallis tops McCluer in batting with a .333 effort and 25 runs batted in.

The winners will play for the title on Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at Meador Park.

Allen Adds Punch As Cards Win

If you needed a word for Pittsburgh's victory over Philadelphia Wednesday night, it would be wild, simply wild. That's what Dick Selma was in the 14th inning and that's why the Pirates nipped the Phillies 3-2. Two wild pitches by Selma permitted Matty Alou to circle the bases with the winning run to break up the extra inning game. "I don't think," said Selma later, "it's such a bad way to lose a ball game." It was not, however, a very good way to lose one.

Elsewhere in the National League Wednesday, Montreal shut out New York 2-0, St. Louis edged Houston 3-2, Atlanta whipped San Francisco 6-1 in 11 innings and San Diego defeated Los Angeles 10-4. Cincinnati and Chicago had the day off.

In the American League, it was Minnesota 10, Kansas City 5; Chicago 3, California 2; Detroit 4, Baltimore 0; Cleveland 7, Boston 2; Washington 2, New York 0; and Milwaukee 8, Oakland 7. Alou reached base in the 14th on a two-out single through the middle—his fourth hit of the game and, if you ask Selma, the root of all the trouble. "Typical Pittsburgh hit on a hard infield," moaned the reliever. "I would have gotten that ball in our park and most other parks."

Not so, argued Alou. "Right now," said Matty, "this is the slowest infield in the league because the grass is so high."

Selma, who was working his fifth inning, claimed he just tired out after that. His first wild pitch rolled a few feet from Detroit 4, Baltimore 0; home plate and Alou stepped at Cleveland 7, Boston 2; second. The next one bounded Washington 2, New York 0; and all the way to the backstop and then high in the air as the Pirate runner scooted home.

Tom Seaver was beaten by Montreal for the second time in 10 days and again on a three-hit shutout. This time, Carl Morton did the job on the Mets, matching the three-hitter than Dan McGinn threw to beat Seaver in New York last week. Morton struck out 10.

Seaver also allowed just three hits and fanned 10 but two of the hits by Ron Fairly and Jim Fairley followed a pair of walks in the fourth inning and drove in the fourth and fifth runs.

Richie Allen cracked two doubles and a single and Chuck Taylor weaved his way out of ninth inning jam to save St. Louis' victory over Houston.

Mike Torrez was leading 3-1 and working on a five-hitter when he walked to leadoff batter in the Astro ninth. Taylor relieved and an error and a single narrowed the Cards' lead to one run. But Taylor retired the next three hitters to nail down the victory.

Rico Carty rocketed a three-run homer in the 11th inning, breaking a tie and moving Atlanta past San Francisco. It was the 10th of the year for Carty, who leads the NL with a .422 batting average.

The homer was Carty's third hit of the game, following a triple and double and beat Gaylord Perry. Hoyt Wilhelm was the winner.

Nate Colbert and Al Ferrara rifled home runs as San Diego clubbed Los Angeles.

Pat Dodson protected the victory for Dave Roberts with four strong innings of relief after the Padres and jumped off to an early 6-0 lead. Colbert's two-run homer was his 13th of the year.

Some 16,000 people work in New York City's Empire State building.

Feed On Dining Tables

WASHINGTON (AP) — New Agriculture Department report. Red meat still is the favorite — particularly beef — but amount of "livestock feed" have shown they also like new products made from some grain which mostly is fed to livestock. Corn has been the big gainer, according to Malcolm Clough, a department economist. Barley also has increased in per capita human food consumption, but not at the rate of corn, and oats have continued a long-time decline.

Last year, Clough says, Americans ate an equivalent of 214 million bushels of corn, or a per capita rate of more than 60 pounds.

This compared with 188 million bushels and a per capita rate of less than 56 pounds only five years earlier, and 136 million bushels and 50.5 pounds in 1960. Per capita food use of oats and barley last year was 7.0 and 1.9 pounds, respectively, the report showed.

Clough says corn consumption has increased more than 60 per cent since 1964 mainly because of larger use by the "wet processing" food industry which turns out such products as corn sugar and syrup.

The major "dry process" products such as corn meal and hominy grits also made a slight gain the past decade following a decline of many years, Clough said.

For example, the report said, back in 1910 the per capita use of corn meal and flour was more than 50 pounds but tumbled to almost six pounds in the early 1960s. Last year consumption rose to 7.4 pounds.

CONSTRUCTION is well underway on the drive-in branch for First National bank at the new Kingsway Plaza Shopping Center. The center is scheduled to open this summer.

Five Fined on Speeding Charges

CHARLESTON — Magistrate Court Judge T. J. Brown, Jr. assessed fines for speeding charges against Mary Alice Henley, $36; Ruth Smith Lewis, $28; Samuel P. Tanksley, $21; Ruth E. Baker and Steven Cary Glenn, each fines $27.

A $110 fine was levied against Max Herman Bannister on a charge of driving while intoxicated. Edgar Harvey Dock had his fine commuted and was released from jail for a similar offense.

Jerry Carter Prunty and Howard Stennett each paid $61 fines for no PSC authority. Rowe Everett Langston, charged with careless and imprudent driving and having no Missouri operators license paid a $25 fine on the first count and $10 fine on second count, plus $11 costs. Lillie Mae Foster was fined $16 for careless and imprudent driving.

A $21 fine was assessed $100. Phillip Bailey for improper registration, and a charge of violation of restriction on his drivers license was dismissed against Claude King, upon payment of $5 costs.

Judge Brown set May 28 as trial date for Frances Grown, charged with stealing, to allow the defendant time to employ an attorney. The defendant was released on $500 bail.

Claude Marbury entered a plea of innocent to a charge of non-support and trial was set for May 28. Non-support charges were dismissed against Jerry Lee Hailey.

A charge of disturbing the peace brought a thirty day jail sentence to Junior Bone, and a suspended ten day jail sentence to David Clark. Clark was placed on probation for six months. Disturbing the peace charge against Jack Bisher was dismissed by the state at $33.68 costs to the defendant. Maxine Stabbs was fined $25.50 on an announced that 15,617 acres of land and water at the Corps of Engineers' Stockton Reservoir charge of disturbing the peace and trial date was set for May 28. Cain filed a personal bond of Judge Brown assessed $16 fines to Roy Fuller for having defective brakes; to Dennis Lee Estes for operating a motorcycle without license; Jackie Nell Langston, for permitting an unauthorized operator to drive. Lindy Williams, charged with being in an intoxicated condition in a public place, was unable to pay his fine and costs and the court ordered the fine be committed to ten days in the county jail.

An account suit, two counts, brought by Simmons Farm Equipment Co. against Joe Sturgeon, was dismissed by the plaintiff without prejudice.

FIFTEEN boys and girls of Concordia Lutheran church were confirmed Sunday morning. It was the largest class in the history of the church. From left, front row, Joanne Payne, Carolyn Fluegge, Cynthia Day, Linda Snowden, Evangeline Hagen, Rhenda Wilkening, Cheryl Patterson, and Christi Heeb; back row Ronald Minner, Donald Hagen, Perry Waltrip, Terry McNail, Randy Ackman, Mike Jacob, Rodney Collier, with the Rev. Herold Lohrmann as instructor.

believes, "and that's why attendance has dropped and financial support has declined. They want music they, too, can identify with."

"About every 150 years there's been a musical revolution. The music becomes so complex it ceases to communicate and so we have an overthrow. We're re-populating the world at such a tremendous pace that the revolutions now will come quicker."

"We're tired of the complexity, the formal, the structure of the avant garde," said Dr. Jones.

"What we believe is necessary and what we'd like to see, personally speaking," said Dr. Jones, "is composers like Howard Hanson, Roy Harris and others take hold of what is American and weave our cultural heritage into serious major compositions as some of them have in the past."

One of the most encouraging developments in recent years in promoting American music, Dr. Jones says, is the use of composers in residence in a number of high schools in the United States.

"I think this is a trend that will continue and will be elaborated on. These young composers will become established with their roots much closer to the American scene, in fact, deeply embedded in the American scene because of such exposures."

Another major development centers around the work of the institute. Its purpose, Dr. Jones explains, is "to identify and define 'American music'; establish a center of resources and research; analyze influences and trends and promote American music through conferences, lectures, symposia, and performances in public and private schools, colleges and universities; prepare definite bibliographies and individual and collective biographies of American composers; and to encourage publication and performance of the results of institute research and its commissioned works." Since the founding of the institute in 1967, "thousands and thousands of manuscripts, scores, recordings, periodicals, and historical memorabilia have poured into the conservatory, including works of Charles Ives, Samuel Barber, John Jacob Niles, Walter Piston, Howard Hanson, Dr. Vincent T. Williams, Sir Carl Busch, and others."

Members of the Junior Service League of Kansas City are helping the institute, Dr. Jones said, in two areas. "They are assisting as library archivists in the collection and processing of materials, and as docents in making audio and visual presentations on American music in public and private schools. They presented more than 300 lectures last year on William Billings and Paul Revere. They have also talked on jazz and this season are giving lectures on the American musical theater."

Two of the large collections of manuscripts and scores placed with the institute come from movies and television. The largest consists of 12,000 scores and parts of all orchestral music used in the production of silent films through the first two years of the transition into sound.

The other collection in this file comes from Leith Stevens, an alumnus of the conservatory and composer of the musical scores for such movies as "Destination Moon," "The James Dean Story," and others. Stevens is now musical director for Paramount Studios.

Add Two More Names to List Of Nashville Music Hopefuls

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — If you have to, you can walk across the Shelby Street Bridge spanning the Cumberland River from Mom Upchurch's rooming house to the Grand Ole Opry House three miles away.

And, if you're just breaking into the country music business you may have to. When you hit Music City, U.S.A., with a guitar, $10 in your jeans and hope, you don't hire many taxis.

You also find out that it can be a long three miles to the Opry House—and you may never get there at all.

Edgel Groves, 28, made his first money picking and singing 12 years ago in an Akron, Ohio, night club. Since then, he's been to every state in the nation, made a few records for labels few people would recognize, sold products for an Akron rubber company—and kept on picking, singing and writing songs.

Now, feeling himself on the verge of the bigtime, he's taken an apartment near 16th Avenue South—where the action is and where most of the major recording companies and talent agencies have their headquarters.

Girls also try—and some of them, like Bobby Gentry and Loretta Lynn, find life quite pleasant. Right now, 17-year-old Dianne Davidson, the blonde, blue-eyed daughter of a Camden, Tenn., druggist, recently moved here with her family in hopes that being at the heart of things will further her career. She's recently signed a contract to get some of her songs published—and a talent agency signed her to a five-year contract in an effort to place her as a performer.

But most who come here are boys, in their late teens, and single. They come each year by the thousands, by bus, by car and by thumb. And for 25 years, Mom Upchurch's has been a haven for the young musician, dreaming of the bigtime—and Missouri-Kansas City, believes not realizing that in this it's a basic factor in at least business, you've never really got it made.

"I guess I've had about 2,000 boys here," smiled Mrs. Upchurch, gray, bespectacled—and motherly. "I tell them it's their home. They have the run of the house. Sometimes, we have jam sessions, when they can all get together. But they're on the road so much."

"I started taking in young musicians about 25 years ago, right after my husband died," she recalled. "I had all of Pee Wee King's boys, except Pee Wee—he was married and lived right across the street—and, of course, Eddy Arnold. He was married and had a baby."

Any of her roomers go on to stardom? "I've had a few. Carl Smith, Faron Young and Ferlin Husky. They were some of my boys."

Wherever they come from, however they arrive, they all come with the same dream—to get to the top.

But even if they make it big, the pattern of their life doesn't change; only the style. From Mom Upchurch's, they can move into a $100,000 lakeside home, but they can't stay there much; their records will bring $25,000 instead of $500 to $1,000; one-nighters will pay $3,000 instead of $100 or $200.

When a musician gets caught up in the swirl, however, he finds himself in a vicious cycle. Without hit recordings he can't book personal appearances; without personal appearances, he can't sell records.

For some of those who get to the top, there's too much pressure. The legendary Hank Williams had an unbelievably brief three-year stint as a Grand Ole Opry star before he collapsed and died in the rear seat of his car, en route to a one-night personal appearance in Alabama in 1952.

The divorce rate is high. It's not much of a life for a wife or a husband whose mate is never home.

But still they come. Like Edgel Groves or Dianne Davidson. And all of them have to write their own songs.

"That's the problem of the young singer," explains Audie Ashworth, an executive with the Hubert Long talent agency, one of the giants in the country and Western field. "The established writers want to place their songs with the established stars. That means if the young singer can't write his own material, he can't get anywhere—and if he can't write good material, he still can't get anywhere."

Symphonic Music Decline Attributed to Irrelevance

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Are symphony orchestras in the United States losing audiences and financial support because of concentration on music of "European traditions or extreme avant garde-ism?"

Dr. Archie N. Jones, retired dean of the Conservatory of Music at the University of Missouri-Kansas City, believes not realizing that in this it's a basic factor in at least

"some of the problems confronting the nation's serious musical organizations."

"You can't communicate by means of an unknown language which is what's been happening in the last 30 years," he contends.

Because of his concern, Dr. Jones was instrumental in the founding of the Institute for Studies in American Music at the conservatory. He is serving as its first director.

"We must determine any contemporary composers, with few exceptions, have failed to incorporate the materials of our own art forms in their works. We must reverse the trends and get back to American idioms and styles."

Professor Jack Ralston, Conservatory librarian and assistant to Dr. Jones, says "the contemporary composers, for the most part, have isolated themselves from the audience. They appear not to care what the audience wants and what their own cultural heritage has been."

The trends away from American idioms and styles, Dr. Jones says, can be explained in part by the "large numbers of European performers, conductors and teachers who have come to this country in the past 50 years. Because of the centuries-old traditions of European music," he continues, "it was only natural that we should adopt the European patterns as our own."

"So much of what is being performed today in the concert halls has no relationship to America. We are in a musical revolution. The young people have decided they want their own music. That's why we have the rock music."

"Adults are experiencing many of the same feelings in the concert halls," Dr. Jones

An Open Letter To Congress

Should Joseph Romeo Be Fired?

JOSEPH ROMEO, JR.

March 30, 1970
National Right to Work Committee
1900 L Street, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20036
#30 to PFF

Gentlemen:
Thank you for your letter of March 25, 1970 concerning forced unionization of postal employees. I am personally interested in this subject because I am a postal employee and I stayed on the job during the recent strike. I was a member of a postal union for 11 years until I quit my membership last year because the union began to favor striking against the government. Sometime ago I wrote my senator and representative expressing my opposition to forced unionization of postal employees. I am glad to contribute $30 to the Committee for this project and have enclosed a check.
Yours Truly,
Joseph Romeo Jr.

Should Joseph Romeo be fired for refusing to pay dues to a union which promoted an illegal strike? President John F. Kennedy said no! His Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg said no! The 1968 GOP party platform said no! And present Federal policy (Executive Order 11491) says no—it protects the freedom of all postal workers whether or not they pay money to a union. But Postmaster General Winton Blount and AFL-CIO President George Meany want to change that. They have agreed to include a provision in the new postal "reform" bill which will strip away postal employees' Right to Work protection.

Most Americans oppose the Blount-Meany proposal to make it legal to fire Joseph Romeo and others like him if he refuses to pay money to the union. We call on you to oppose any postal "reform" bill which fails to include the specific protection of freedom of choice which all postal employees presently enjoy.

Alaskan Schoolteacher Named '1969 Military Wife of the Year'

Mrs. Coleman

WASHINGTON (ANF)—Mrs. Victor S. Coleman, wife of an Army chaplain stationed at Fort Wainwright, Alaska, has been named "1969 Military Wife of the Year."

Mrs. Coleman, who teaches sixth grade at Fort Wainwright, near Fairbanks, has received wide recognition for launching a movement known as HELP DAN (Help Educate Little People to the danger of Drugs, Alcohol and Narcotics).

The third military wife so honored, Mrs. Coleman won out over four other finalists in the contest originated by the producer of the Art Linkletter tour of military bases. Mrs. Richard M. Nixon served as honorary chairman of the judges' committee that made the final selection.

Recently selected as Alaska's mother of the year, Mrs. Coleman soon will join the Linkletter tour party and travel to bases extending from Guantanamo Bay in the Caribbean to Alaska. She will appear in a television special based on the tour and also appear as a guest on the regularly scheduled Art Linkletter Show in which she will have an opportunity to tell the American public of the role of the military wife.

The committee of judges on this year's panel consisted of: Mrs. Bruce Palmer Jr., wife of the Vice Chief of Staff, U.S. Army; Mrs. Thomas H. Moorer, wife of the Chief of Naval Operations; Mrs. Willard J. Smith, wife of the Commandant, U.S. Coast Guard; Mrs. Leonard F. Chapman, wife of the Commandant, U.S. Marine Corps; and Mrs. John P. McConnell, wife of the Chief of Staff, U.S. Air Force.

When the leaves come tumbling down in the autumn, use some of them and use them to help protect your evergreens, young trees and shrubs.

Placing loose leaves, dry grass and brush around the base of shrubs or trees is putting a protective blanket to work through the winter.

Most leaves, particularly maple, will pack down and block air from getting to roots. They will form a prison through which moisture cannot break. So pattern the winter mulch in thin layers with brush between for a total depth of four inches to a foot. The colder it gets where you live, the thicker the blanket should be. Don't apply it until after the first heavy frost.

When roots become locked in frozen soil and cannot replace the moisture lost through the foliage in mild fall and winter days, the American Association of Nurserymen says, they are suffering from "winter burn."

Unless you reside in the severest climate, fall is a good time to set out evergreens, which give you a green view all year, especially when most shrubbery is drab and bare.

For a bright touch, plant evergreens where they will be readily visible from your window or doorway. At our new home, evergreens screen part of the yard, providing privacy as well as attractiveness.

Chores have been completed, is a outdoors during the summer; then good time to build for spring beauty with bulbs. As we noted before, except in the coldest areas,

Fall is a time to move chrysanthemums. We've received a suggestion that where moles, field mice or chipmunks are a nuisance, plant bulbs in wire cages. In my own case, this would be quite a chore, considering that we have about 400 tulips and other spring bulbs.

Photography can be useful for cataloguing possessions for insurance purposes, since photographs are both practical and legally admissible.

An off-beat idea about insurance photography popped up recently while I was testing a new Sankyo super 8mm zoom movie camera. Don Langer, photography columnist for the New York Post, was present and we were discussing hurricane Camille and its terrible toll of lives and property in the nation's southeast.

We wondered how amateurs could prepare, photographically, for possible total loss of property by storm, flood, fire or burglary. It could be an expensive undertaking if you had to take photo inventory of your complete household with hundreds of individual articles.

First of all, it was agreed, any photo record of valuables would have to be kept in a safe place away from home—like a safe deposit vault—otherwise it, too, could be lost. Then we talked about methods for doing it easily, completely and inexpensively.

"That Sankyo in your hand gives me an idea," Langer said suddenly. "Most amateurs are familiar with home movie shooting. A 50-foot roll of color film has thousands of frames. You don't have to shoot single frames like that camera can. In fact you must have a minimum of about 10 frames for each individual picture."

"Why not inventory your possessions on a movie roll of film by shooting short bursts of each item? You could make a record of about 300 objects on a 50-foot roll ... and the total initial cost of color film and processing is less than $5."

With that basic idea, we learned Kodak can make wallet size prints from super 8mm film provided there were about 10 frames of each subject or enough to handle the film. The cost is 85 cents a print. In the case of an insurance claim, this would be a minor

MOST VALUABLE POSSESSION of most amateur photographers—children—motivates most home movie making. expense if it helped establish proof feet—with an object only three inches high and four inches wide.

The 1/1.8 zoom lens, through-the-lens reflex focusing and automatic exposure control made it easy to project as still pictures of each sharp and properly exposed item for an insurance investigator.

They could be referred to as often as adapters range from No. 16 to No. 20 on special order. The 1/2 diopter attachment is essential.

In making a photo record, best results would be assured if the in-half. The No. 10 diopter brings camera were on a tripod, since, in the focusing distance to within 4 to 6 inches depending on focal length of lens. There is no distortion or over-exposure factor with these attachments.

Objects cannot be seen clearly if they are photographed on a confusing surface against a distracting background. Items can be placed on a white table cloth with a white cardboard or a movie screen behind them.

Checking the Sankyo Super on a white table cloth with a white cardboard or a movie screen behind them, I found the entire pertinent information alongside—frame could be filled from its value, maker, etc.—to be included in the photo.

KERSHNER-ROWE COMMENTARY

Our Crushing Tax Burden

In 1948 the Federal Government appropriated $8 billion to operate the city government of Washington, D.C. This year's appropriation is $107 million. In addition, the House has passed a bill appropriating $2½ billion to build a 98-mile subway for the District of Columbia and parts of the states of Maryland and Virginia. By the time this gigantic system is completed, possibly ten years hence, it is likely to cost $5 billion.

Why should the people of the whole United States pay out this enormous sum for the benefit of the people living in Washington, D.C. and nearby territory? Most of our people rarely if ever go to Washington. Many are afraid to go there, due to the crime rate.

Of course, other communities throughout the nation are getting federal money for all sorts of projects. The feeling is general that federal money is free. Local authorities are not so much concerned about the amount spent or the way in which it is spent in their respective communities. This leads to wastefulness and an unconscionable burden on all the American people. If each community would raise the money for its own projects, the total cost would be far less than it is today.

In 1929 the tax collector was raking in about one dollar of every ten the American people earned. By 1949 he had increased his take to one in five. By the late fifties he was getting one in four. Today, local, state and federal taxes take one dollar out of every three the people earn.

The complicated administrative problems involved in collecting money from the people, sending it to Washington and then having it redistributed and returned to the people, absorbs a considerable part of the public revenue. Not long ago Arthur F. Burns, former chief domestic counsel to President Nixon and now head of the Federal Reserve Board, spoke of more than 600 programs of federal aid available to states and municipalities. A $1000 grant, said Dr. Burns, may require over thirty major federal agency steps, including a review by a 15-man advisory committee. Millions of forms and blanks must be filed in connection with this vast program.

One is reminded of the charge directed against the King of England in the Declaration of Independence: "He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people, and eat out of their substance."

307 Farms Join in Soil Conservation

By L. L. SCHADE
BENTON The Scott County Soil and Water Conservation district has come a long way since its organization another 572 acres graded; 48 in 1964, according to Keith Little, district conservativist.

Over this period 307 farms have joined in one or more soil conservation practices that involved the building of 210,520 feet of drainage ditches, with 39,500 acres of crop lands given cropping protection from soil erosion and added to a regular cropping system.

Other land developments in five years include new plans developed on 163 farms, 9,600 acres leveled for irrigation, 4,900 acres of land smoothing, 470 irrigation wells dug, and 14,480 acres of farm land surveyed. Additional land practices added were 180 new irrigation systems and 65 water control structures built to control field washing.

The greatest single year accomplishment was in 1969, when 58 farms were added to farm land conservation practices, and 294 farms were given assistance by the soil and water district, and 96,920 feet of ditches built on farms.

Also high on the list for the past year included 4,540 acres surveyed, 2,051 acres added to a cropping system; 1,540 acres of land leveled for irrigation, and another 572 acres graded; 48 in 1964, according to Keith Little, district conservativist.

The purpose of the soil and water district in this county is to assist every landowner in developing a basic conservation farm plan by applying needed conservation practices in controlling drainage and top soil washing.

Burlison

Critical of Mail Subsidy

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Bill D. Burlison, Missouri's 10th district United States representative, today released a letter written by him on April 24, 1970, to the Reader's Digest in which he criticized an article in that publication entitled "Time to Say No to Big Farm Subsidies." In his letter Burlison said, "The exaggeration, fabrication, and inaccuracy of the article are appalling."

The congressman stated that he was now releasing his letter because of the great national attention to the article, provoked by its publication in the May issue.

The vice chairman of the post office and civil service committee of the house of representatives, David N. Henderson, recently held a news conference in which he attacked the publication for "Systematically distorting the issue of farm subsidies while at the same time it ranks among the largest recipients of federal mail subsidies."

Burlison pointed out that Reader's Digest for last year alone received a 9.4 million dollar mail subsidy. Burlison said he certainly agreed with Vice Chairman Henderson's statement that "This particular article in Reader's Digest has raised in my mind the question of whether a publication actually renders a valuable service which ought to be subsidized by the taxpayers when it disseminates information which is factually incorrect or deliberately slanted or biased."

Burlison emphasized that the farm program is not so much a subsidy of the farmer as it is the consumer. He said this is emphasized by the fact that the American consumer continues to pay a smaller and smaller percentage of his income for food and fiber. A few years ago the percentage was 25 percent. Now it is down to 16 1/2 percent. This has all occurred while the farmer's prices have remained steady, and in fact in many instances have declined. This is also further evidenced by the fact that during this same period wage and salaries have doubled and corporate dividends have spiraled by over 200 percent.

Petitions Filed For Election on Council-Manager

MALDEN — Petitions calling for a special election on the Council Manager Form of Government were presented Monday night to the Malden City Council by C. L. (Val) Mitchell, chairman of the Citizens Committee for Council-Manager Government for Malden.

A total of 31 petitions bearing 670 names were presented to the council. There was little comment made as the Council accepted the petitions and the City Clerk made an entry in the minutes to the effect that they had been filed.

Under Missouri law the Council must call a special election within 60 days.

The proposition as it will appear on the ballot is: "Shall the City of Malden Organize under Sections 78.430 to 78.440

R.S. Mo., providing for the City Manager Form of Government?" YES () NO ()

Should the City Manager plan be approved a second election will be necessary to elect five persons to the City Council.

A meeting of the steering group of the Citizens Committee was held Thursday night at which time plans were made to conduct informational campaign on the merits of the Council-Manager system. Also, an intensive effort will be made to get as many persons out to vote as possible.

Yard of Month
Contest Will Be Sponsored

GRAY RIDGE— The Gray Ridge Delta Area Economic Opportunity Center is sponsoring a yard of the month program in May, June, and July.

This program is planned for small communities in the southern half of Stoddard county where a community beautification program is not organized.

Communities selected will be notified in advance so they will be aware of what the yards will be judged on.

Volunteers will be appointed as judges and will not be from the community participating for that month.

A nursery will donate two shrubs to the winners. A yard of the month sign will be placed in the winner's yard until another community winner has been selected.

Dudley has been selected for the May yard of the month. Yard will be judged on cleanliness from litter, mowed and weeds cut, bushes and trees trimmed, and most improvement overall.

Two Arrests
For Assault In Liquor Store

MALDEN — Charges of assault with intent to do bodily injury have been filed against two 18-year-old Negro men as the result of an attempted robbery. The attempted robbery took place at 5:15 p.m. Tuesday at the Southside Liquor Store on Highway 25, south of Malden.

Charges of assault were filed yesterday against Billy Joe Jones of Clarkton and James Townsend of Malden. According to Deputy Sheriff Bob McDonald, the two men entered the liquor store at 5:15 p.m. Tuesday carrying a two to three inch tree limb concealed behind their backs. They asked the package store owner, Johnny Holder, for an item beneath the counter, and when Holder bent over to pick up the item, he was clubbed on the head with the tree limb. Holder suffered compound fractures of the skull and was given emergency treatment at the Croom-Morehead Clinic.

McDonald stated that as the two men fled from the package store, after failing to knock out the victim, they were spotted running from the store by Leon Kirksey, Perry Jones and Larry Cronan, who were standing outside the Kirksey Motor Company directly across the highway. The three men called the police and then gave chase of

SMOKERS' FIRES

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make Leroy pay for assaulting unappreciative Linda? This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that when a woman knowingly becomes a party to a display of affection, her consent prevents her from complaining that she's been assaulted. In this case, concluded the judge, Linda offered no protest to Leroy's advances. (Based upon a 1945 Mass. Supreme Court Decision)

Planned Gas Service

Rate Hike Would Not

Affect Cape Area

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Missouri Utilities Company has filed with the Missouri Public Service Commission a request to raise rates for natural gas service.

The request filed Monday would produce $391,000 more annual revenue - an 11 per cent increase. Gas customers of the company in the counties of Boone, Cooper, Miller, Moniteau, Morgan and Saline would be affected.

Customers in the Cape Girardeau area also served by Missouri Utilities are not affected.

Company officials said the average gas customer using 10,000 cubic feet would have his monthly bill increased about $1.21. Monthly mini-much charge would be raised from $1.57 to $2.25, the company said.

FTC 'Cents off' Ruling Aimed at Manufacturers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission's proposed regulation of "cents off" labels would police manufacturers rather than retailers.

Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., chairman of a House consumer subcommittee, says it won't work.

The FTC published its regulations Tuesday under the 3 1/2 year-old Fair Packaging and Labeling Act to cover all consumer items except food, drugs and cosmetics. The remaining items are to be covered under similar regulations due to be published soon by the Food and Drug Administration.

The FTC required that the savings represented in "cents off" labels must be legitimate and must amount to at least 8 per cent.

The regulation also restricts "cents off" promotions to a one-month duration and a maximum of three in a 12-month period.

"That provision does not provide any protection for the consumer at all," said Rosenthal. "No manufacturer goes into the store to see if the retailer is selling the product as he should."

Rosenthal said the FTC would have been better off proposing the regulations under its power to ban deceptive practices.

But an FTC spokesman said the Fair Packaging Act specifically directed the agency to issue regulations under the act and specified that they be directed at manufacturers.

The spokesman said the FTC is prepared to move in under its powers to curb deceptive practices if it turns out that manufacturers are not policing the retailers.

The FTC gave interested parties 60 days to comment on the proposals. A hearing is due.

Tornado Alert System

Discussed At Kennett

KENNETT — A question by councilman Don Key prompted a lengthy discussion in an otherwise short city council session about the city of Kennett's tornado warning system.

Key asked what the present warning system consists of. He was told that the fire department has been instructed to sound the fire whistle when reliable reports reach the department that a tornado is headed toward the Kennett area.

However, there was some discussion as to how the general public would distinguish a fire signal from a tornado alert signal.

Key suggested that since May and June are the most critical periods for tornadoes a test blast of the siren should be sounded to let the public know exactly what to listen for. After the matter was discussed at length, it was decided that the members of the fire committee would meet with Civil Defense Director Maurice Olds, Fire Chief J. N. Goldsmith and Mayor Sol Astrachan and work out a definite signal to be used.

Projects Activated

Realtors of America have risen to the challenge to improve the total environment of the nation in a broad-based program called Make America Better, C. D. Alcorn, president of the Sikeston Board, said today.

Realtor C. D. Alcorn pointed out that hundreds of the 1,570 boards of Realtors in the 50 states have activated projects designed to help solve the problems of America's cities and towns. Many more are in the planning stage.

Fighting pollution — air, water, and noise — is the newest area in which the National Association of Real Estate Boards is becoming involved in its Make America Better Program.

Robert S. Curtis, New York, chairman of the Make America Better Committee, recently appointed Realtor Cliff Everett, Eugene, Ore., as chairman of a sub-committee which will devise ways to attack the growing menace of pollution.

Realtor Everett, a geologist and engineer, is an expert in this field.

Anti-crime drives focused on lighting the night as one method of thwarting the criminal have been conducted by hundreds of the boards of Realtors. In New Jersey, for example, 26 of the boards are combining in a crime-fight campaign which will reach 80 per cent of the population of the state.

In Charlotte, N. C., the board's Light the Night campaign was so successful, impressive that a local television station made a motion picture of it, Realtor Alcorn said. Similar anti-crime programs in Long Island, N. Y.; Oakland, Calif.; Lubbock, Tex.; Hayward, Calif.; and other communities are credited with reducing the crime rate.

Positive action as part of a six-objective program is the secret of the success of the Make America Better Program, Realtor Alcorn said. "In our six objectives we have 43 proposals for action," he continued. "This is not just talk, or theory, our boards are doing something to solve our nation's problems."

One such solution lies in the field of vocational education, Realtor Alcorn explained. He pointed out that the Dubuque (Iowa) Board of Realtors provided a lot so that high school vocational students could build a house, thus training themselves for useful occupations. A board based in Salisbury, Md., gave $3,000 to help retarded youngsters find useful careers. The Northern Virginia Board of Realtors and the Glendale (Calif.) Board of Realtors spent money and effort to find jobs for high school students during the summer.

Another project in the field of education was developed by the Youngstown (Ohio) Board of Realtors, Realtor Alcorn pointed out. Members of this board went door to door in a campaign which literally "saved the schools." Six previous drives for additional funds had failed. In the same city, Realtor Jim Gardner is rehabilitating homes for low-income people on a large scale. Realtors in Eau Claire, Wis., built 100 apartment units for elderly persons with low incomes. Homes were upgraded and beautified as the result of projects in Bridgeport, Conn., and Daytona Beach, Fla.

"These are just a few of the many activities undertaken by boards of Realtors in our Make America Better Program," Realtor Alcorn said. "The program is growing to major proportions. Part of this is the result of the excellent

"Lion's Share"

An old story from Aesop's Fables tells about the lion that hunted with the fox and wolf and then claimed two-thirds of the game. From this comes the expression, "the lion's share."

Grain Market

CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat futures advanced sharply in early dealings today. Other grains were generally weak and soybeans were irregular.

On the opening, wheat was 1/4 to 1/2 cent a bushel higher, July 1.36; corn was 1/8 lower to 1/8 higher, July 1.29; oats were 1/8 lower, July 64 5/8 cents;
